FORTY 8 FIFTY LABS
A VERISTOR COMPANY

PREPARE FOR MAXIMUM VELOCITY, YOUR DEVOPS JOURNEY IS ABOUT TO BEGIN

We'll Get You There

What Is DevOps Exactly?

DevOps is an agile approach that aligns development and operations teams behind key business goals. It is not a tool, a person or a product, but a combination of cultural change and technology enablement that speeds product delivery from inception through production. We could say it is the future of business, but that future is now.

Because of the incredible speed of technology driven solutions, software development and IT operations can no longer function independently of one another - they must collaborate and integrate to accelerate the shared objectives of the business. DevOps lives at the intersection of these two teams, bringing them together to drive a cultural shift towards a fast, nimble and collaborative style of building technical solutions.

Today's DevOps builds on efficiencies gained in development by adopting Agile Methodologies and Continuous Integration/ Continuous Delivery practices, and by adding operational improvements through the automation and orchestration of key infrastructure tasks.

Sound complicated? It is. We'll get you started.

What Can DevOps Do?

- Shared tools/methodologies across development and operations
- Material reduction in manual processes
- Shorter development cycles
- Increased release velocity
- Improved defect detection
- Reduction in deployment failures and rollbacks
- Reduced time to recover upon failure
- Greater delivery throughput
- Increased quality of product
- Faster speed to market

Our Mission Is Clear

We are here to get you to the speed of DevOps. Forty8Fifty Labs provides a team of experts with decades of field-proven experience to deliver customized services, expert training and superior support in all things DevOps. We introduce innovative and scalable software solutions powered by a comprehensive understanding of advanced DevOps concepts. We increase the collaboration and efficiencies of your development and operations teams, facilitating the cultural shift designed to increase business velocity and achieve a working harmony in your development organization.

Driven, by DevOps.

How We Get You from Here to There

This one's easy. Through a process we call velocification, we harness the power of today's most innovative technologies to deliver the advice, products, services and solutions that support your DevOps journey. By working in tandem with CIOs, development organizations and operations teams, we empower our clients to embrace the DevOps transformation, allowing them to increase productivity, realize operational agility, speed product time to delivery and encourage Welcome your new DevOps superpower. Welcome to velocification.

Our Process, Our Capabilities

Transforming a business into a living, breathing DevOps-enabled machine can happen more efficiently and effectively with a group of dedicated experts, like us, on your side. By working strategically at the intersection of your company's development and IT operations, we provide you with the support necessary to realize a successful DevOps transformation. Here's how we can help you make DevOps a reality.

◆ End-to-End DevOps Planning
   You need faster innovation, accelerated time-to-market, improved deployment quality and better operational efficiency. We bring a comprehensive range of planning services that will truly make a difference. From readiness assessments and jumpstart programs, to transformation gap analysis evaluations, we developed a practical action plan with prioritized recommendations to move you forward, supported, through the transformation.

◆ Integrated Deployment Services
   The experts at Forty8Fifty Labs have unparalleled expertise and a wealth of field-proven experience in deploying within DevOps environments. Whether it's figuring out how to support continuous integration in agile environments or integrating add-ons to optimize infrastructure, we help you plan continuously throughout your DevOps journey and leverage active stakeholder participation from across development, operations and support groups to make each deployment seamless.

◆ Custom Development and Integrations
   Our experts will quickly evaluate your needs, identify the right toolset and develop fast, scalable software solutions just for you. Whether your team needs custom integrations around continuous integration/delivery, automated provisioning, private/public/hybrid cloud integration, or something for your unique environment – we can help.

◆ Culture Realignment
   One of the critical success factors in any DevOps journey is to establish a collaborative culture that learns together and changes together. It's about turning big business goals into smaller, more manageable pieces of work that the team be successful at delivering. We'll help you figure out how to break down traditional silos, promote cross-team communication and stand up a culture of constant process and product improvement – both now and into the future.

FORTY 8 FIFTY LABS A VERISTOR COMPANY

Be the Superheroes of DevOps

By delivering our other-worldly insight directly to you, you can be the DevOps heroes. Leveraging our experience and custom software development capabilities, you'll unlock the full potential of your business in a single bound. Our knowledge will enable you to accelerate your DevOps journey and improve your velocity, changing your culture and supercharging your business.

Management is going to be thrilled.

Consulting

From custom integrations to deployment strategies, we help to get the most out of your Atlassian solutions.

Sales & Support

We sell and support all of Atlassian's groundbreaking products. From JIRA to HipChat, we've got you covered.

Training

Get up to speed with our real-world field experience with our wide range of official Atlassian training & certifications.

Let Forty8Fifty Labs help you unleash the power of velocification within your organization.

3

FORTY8FIFTY
LABS — A VERISTOR COMPANY